Most GPs have a healthy interest in keeping up to date. There is a sense of professional satisfaction when patients are offered a safe and high quality service. But the process of updating ourselves is not easy. Our workload is increasing daily and the pace of change is relentless. This is further compounded by proposals on Regulation of doctors which have highlighted Continuing Professional Development (CPD) as a process all of us must participate if we are to continue working.

A process of lifelong learning should not be a tall order. All of us have always enjoyed learning but we would like our learning to be relevant to

Conclusions

Salford GP Learning HUB is:

- An online resource to meet the learning and development needs of GPs
- To prepare GPs for strengthened Appraisals and Revalidation
